Books, Poems, & Prints for Kids

May 2023

Welcome

Hey, it's May! The month of permission slips, school donations, field trips, concerts, final projects... ie FUN!, but Goll-eee a girl's to-do list can get a little overwhelming.

Anyway, here's another email to fill your inbox. I'll keep it short.

Upcoming

I'll be at Northland Public Library on May 13 from 10am to 3pm for their local author fair.

Camp

I'll be running a Picture Book Camp at Little Green Bookstore in Zelienople, PA the last week of June.

Stay tuned for more details!

Madness! Poetry

I teach poetry the 🧐 way

On April 23, I started competing with 63 other poets in an NCAA March Madness type bracket, voted on by students and readers!

I'm still in it as I write this newsletter. Will I still be in by the time you read this? Probably not - but check it out anyway and vote if it isn't over.

Poetry as Promised

I had three poems published in Poetry as Promised Magazine's Valentines Day/Spring issue that came out in April.

The vintage, scrap book, cut paper aesthetic of each issue is GORGOUSS, and I have loved being included.
